Protect Your Home and Family from Fleas

- Fleas are a common pest problem in homes especially when cats or dogs are present. Not only are they a concern for pets but they also bite humans. Fleas are usually found in the homes with pets but they can also be a problem for new homeowners that move into previously infested homes and apartments.

How to get rid of Fleas

- If you have pets, it is essential to prevent fleas becoming established in carpets and bedding:
- Vacuum carpets and furnishings where pets sleep to remove fleas and eggs. Use the strongest suction that will not damage the fabric. Empty the vacuum cleaner bag directly into a sealable plastic bag and immediately discard it outside your home.
- Wash pet bedding regularly in hot water to kill flea eggs, larvae, and adults within cocoons
- Take care when transferring bedding, rugs, etc, to avoid spreading flea eggs
- Consider placing pet beds in areas without carpets such as on wooden floors
